Emergency called board meeting held to accept teacher resignation

On Thursday evening, May 23, the Elba Board of Education held an emergency called meeting.

The sole purpose of this meeting was for the board to accept and approve a resignation from Melissa Mularz. She was serving as a physical education teacher and coach at the high school.

There was a majority of board members present for the meeting. Two board members were out of town, and upon recommendation of the superintendent, the resignation was approved.

The board also approved two new hires for next school year.

Elba alum Harry Griffin

Also, during the meeting, the board members voted to approve board officers for the next year. Debra Clark nominated Johnny Senn to remain president of the board, which was approved. As for vice president, Kristy Astemborski was nominated and voted on to remain vice president of the board for another year.

An out-of-state field trip for the Elba band program was approved. The band is planning a trip to Pigeon Forge, Tennessee in April of 2025.

The U.S. Highway 84 and Hickman Avenue intersection in Elba was the scene of this multi-vehicle wreck last Friday, May 24, just after 1:30 p.m. Reportedly, the overturned vehicle attempted to make a turn off U.S. Hwy. 84 and missed the oncoming traffic traveling east on Hwy. 84. The collision of the two vehicles above was the result. A third vehicle was sitting still at the stop sign and was struck by the overturned vehicle. Fortunately, no injuries were reported as a result of this accident.

Superintendent says he has been approached by board's attorney to vacate position early

During the Elba Board of Education meeting Tuesday evening, May 21, superintendent Chris Moseley brought up the topic of the 2024-2025 plan with board members for discussion.

"What are we doing transition-wise moving forward?" was the question Moseley asked in bringing the topic to the table for discussion. "I am the number one person that needs to be kept in the loop because I want to help this transition. I want the transition to be good because of caring about the school system."

Moseley said he had been approached the week prior by the board's attorney Merrill Shirley about vacating the position before his contract is up at the end of October on the board's behalf.

"You are the board," Moseley said. "I am fully open to discussion that, but I haven't heard what we are trying to do."

What is the plan? What is the timeline? What are we going to do? Those were all questions Moseley asked.

"What would you accept at this point? Johnny Senn board president asked. "How much time do you need without any issues? Is there anything you would accept?"

Moseley said he had expressed to the attorney that he saw no problem with him leaving at the end of June, if that is what the board desired and a plan was in place. He did note he had a meeting set with the Retirement System of Alabama on May 30th and said that would tell him more personally about what he can do.

"I want to help the school system to move forward because ya'll obviously don't want to move forward with me," Moseley said. "I am fine with that, and I will work with anybody to help the process move forward."

Board member Deann Grantham said it is not possible to have a new superintendent hired by the end of June.

"We have to advertise [the position] for 30 days minimum then we have to interview, make an offer and have contract negotiations before a new superintendent is hired," she said.

Moseley concurred with those statements, but he said if the board has a plan for the interim and ready to go, he would still be okay with stepping aside at the end of June, but he said he has received no offer from the school board for him to consider in regards to vacating the spot early.

"If the board wants me to do something, what are you offering for me to get out of the way at end of June?" Moseley asked.

Senn asked, "Are you insinuating monetary... money?"

"Absolutely," was Moseley's response to his question. "That is what happens throughout the state. It happens all over the place."

As for discussions about the next superintendent, Shirley said the board needs to determine an exit date for Moseley before those discussions can take shape and the formal process begin.

"There is a lot of movement that needs to happen fast if we are talking end of June," Moseley added.

To that, Grantham added, "From my standpoint there is a lot of discussion that needs to happen. If we hire someone in the interim [if Moseley leaves the job early], I want us to have a discussion about what that is going to cost us."

She said hiring an interim superintendent for a few

Teen killed in single vehicle accident

A local teenager died Wednesday night, May 22, as the result of a vehicle accident, according to information released by Coffee County Coroner Arnold Woodham.

Woodham said Dane Alexander Moormann, age 16, of Elba died from injuries he received an accident on County Rd. 702 in Enterprise, Ala. It was a single vehicle accident, and Moormann was pronounced dead at the scene at 10:50 p.m.

The accident was investigated by the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency, 12th Judicial Circuit District Attorney's Office and the Coffee County Coroner's Office, according to a press release.

Moormann was a student at Zion Chapel School.

The Choctawhatchee, Pea and Yellow Rivers Watershed Management Authority (CPYRWMA) announces it has been awarded a $1.7 million from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and a $1.93 million grant from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) to support the removal of the inoperable Elba Dam on the Pea River.

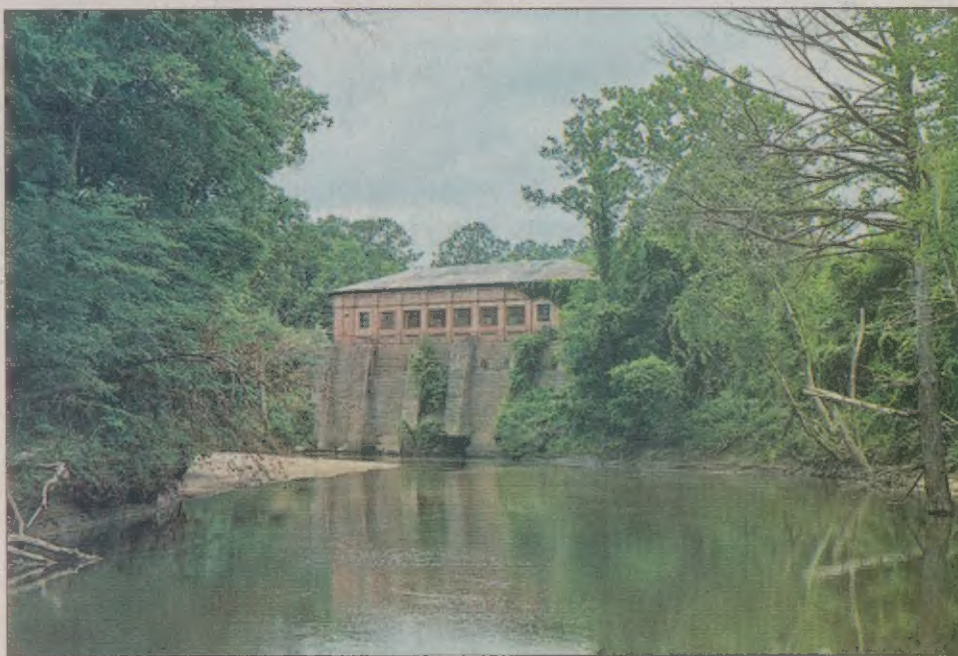

Officials say the dam is a hazard to people, fish and wildlife. Also, the damaged dam poses a safety issue to the community as a navigation hazard, potential source of contaminants, and by increasing flooding risk to the town of Elba.

The dam is the only fish passage barrier in the Choctawhatchee River basin and removal will result in an increase in access to habitat types used by threatened and endangered fish and mussel species in the watershed.

"We are honored to receive these generous grants from NOAA and the USFWS, which will enable us to make significant strides in restoring the Pea River and its surrounding ecosystem," said Lisa Harris, Executive Director of CPYRWMA.

This significant grant underscores CPYRWMA's commitment to environmental conservation and restoration efforts within the watershed. The Elba dam removal project is a crucial step towards restoring the natural flow and connectivity of the Pea River, benefiting aquatic habitats and native species.

"The removal of the Elba dam is a joint effort between the authority and many partners, including agencies, local stakeholders, conservation groups, and universities," Harris said. "Local, state and federal legislative leaders were also instrumental in this effort. The project represents a pivotal moment in our ongoing efforts to conserve and protect our watershed for current and future generations."

By eliminating barriers to fish migration and improving river health, Harris said the project aligns with CPYRWMA's mission to promote sustainable watershed management practices. Key highlights of the grant-funded Elba dam removal project include enhanced river ecosystem, fish passage restoration, and community engagement. Cuzin Lou Lou and Sister are going to have to “work” on Papa, and his remembering to say “thank you” when someone does something nice for him!

Recently, Lou Lou and Sister shared a surprise with Papa. They had purchased him a new mower as an early Father’s Day gift. His current mower had been with him for several years and cut many yards of grass, but Papa had been eyeing a larger mower for quite some time now.

Turns out – to Papa – a 54-inch cut is much better than a 52-inch. Lou Lou doesn’t really see how big a difference two inches makes, but according to Papa, it is a big deal. Lou Lou thinks it is just Papa being a boy – always wanting a new toy!

Anyways...he was having a bad day a while back, and Lou Lou decided to cheer him up by going ahead and making the new mower purchase. Of course, it came with a deal that Papa would sell the current one too. Without such a deal, he would have found a way to keep both!

She let Sister in on the plan and proceeded. After the mower purchase was completed, Lou Lou shared the news with Papa.

His response... “Okay.” Lou Lou stewed a while over that one before she said anything to Papa. Of course, he is very appreciative of the new mower and has raved at how well it operates, but Lou Lou could not help but harass him over the “okay” thanks she received!

It has become a joke around the gang’s house, and Papa has been determined to be spoiled almost as rotten as the Little Bean by both Lou Lou and Sister.

What Papa doesn’t know is that when Sister was hard-timing Papa about his initial reaction to the mower purchase, he said something else that after as soon as the words left his mouth, he realized that probably wasn’t the best thing to say either. So, he immediately asked Sister to not tell Lou Lou he said that because “she was already upset over him not saying thank you.”

Of course, Sister immediately called Lou Lou after she was out of Papa’s presence to tell her what he had said, and they both got a good laugh!

The short of the story is that Papa’s neglect to say those two little words – thank you – has generated more laughter at and picking on him for Lou Lou and Sister than anything he has done in years! Papa is very deserving of the gift, and both daughters know he is very thankful for it. It is just fun when he “forgets” his words and gives them an outlet to harass him over!

The great thing about the Yonder gang is they can all pick on one another in the name of fun, but at the end of the day, the love and appreciation within the gang is beyond measure! Papa just needs to remember those important words his mama taught him all those years ago – always say please and thank you!!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling. Oh yeah...and, happy grass cutting season!

79-year-old earns degree from Troy University

Angerline Day is a mother and a grandmother, and now at age 79, she can add yet another title – a college graduate.

Day crossed the stage at the Davis Theatre for the Performing Arts at the Troy University Montgomery Campus on May 20 with some 125 other graduates, receiving her bachelor’s degree in psychology, along with a hug and words of congratulations from TROY Chancellor Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr.

For Day, it was the moment of a lifetime.

“I never thought I would see this day, and it is wonderful for me,” Day said. “It was always something that I wanted to do. However, I made different decisions that took me elsewhere out in the world. I’ve done everything in life but do me.”

While earning a college degree at 79 is impressive enough, Day took it a step further – she completed all her coursework as an online student. It was a remarkable feat given that she had very little computer experience until about four years ago.

“I was very intimidated,” she said. “I didn’t have a life at all. I was tunnel-focused on it. That was all I did. I would forget to eat, forget to cook because that was all I did. I would go back to the computer until pure exhaustion put me to bed, and then I would get up, do a little something and got back on it. Three and a half year, here I am.”

Day admitted there were times when she struggled and even thought about ending the pursuit of her degree.

“After I read my assignments and saw what I needed to do on the computer,

Windy Thoughts

with Linda Hodge, Editor

There has been lots of activity going on in and around the building recently purchased by All In Credit Union in Elba – aka the former Wells Fargo bank building in the downtown area. While the new business is still not “up and running” we did discover last week that All In does have an operational ATM in place already. We noticed there appeared to be a new ATM in the same spot that Wells Fargo had its ATM by the front door, and a quick check revealed the ATM installed by All In is indeed now operational.

A positive news story came across our email from Troy University this week. A 79-year-old lady completed a ‘bucket-list’ item in earning her Bachelor’s degree! We found the story inspirational enough that we have included it in today’s paper (see below on this page) for others to read and enjoy. Angerline Day, the 79-year-old mother and grandmother, earned her degree in psychology because as she said, “I’m interested in people – what they think, how they behave, why they behave the way they do.” What an inspiration this lady can be for others! She is a great example for never giving up on your dreams!!

The Elba School Board did have a bit of a discussion regarding the superintendent’s position during last week’s meeting, but we still don’t know for sure what they are going to do as far as preparing to hire a new person for the job. Board member Deann Grantham did try to lead the group into at least a planning discussion, but that did not really get anywhere either during the meeting – just led to more questions. Last week’s meeting did reveal the board’s attorney had been authorized to ask the current superintendent to vacate the position early [before his current contract ends Oct. 31 of this year], and while he said he would be willing to do that if an agreement could be reached between parties, it again appeared the board has not come up with an alternative [interim replacement] for that scenario either. All we can gather from where we sit is it is going to cost the system money whichever way they go – let’s just hope the pocketbooks are deep enough to cover whatever that may be for the school system. The thing that scares us most is “what will it actually cost” to send the current super packing early, pay an interim to fill the position while a new super is being sought, and will a new super want a much larger salary? Let’s just hope all those “costs” don’t cost Elba teachers and aides in the classrooms down the road.

The unofficial start to summer came with the Memorial Day holiday. We hope all enjoyed a great holiday. There were rainstorms in the area for a portion of the day, but there was still time too for folks to fire up the grills, play a little golf, jump in the pools, etc. While enjoying the freedoms of the holiday, we hope everyone also took time to remember those “who gave all” in their service to this great nation, which in turn allow for the freedoms we continue to enjoy today. We can never repay the debt we owe those men and women, but we can continue to remember and thank them daily in our own personal lives.

We encourage citizens to be involved by attending the city council, school board, county commission, etc. meetings. It helps those making the decisions know the folks they represent are interested and paying attention. It also helps citizens be more ‘in the know’ rather than just going with what they heard on the street and/or the rumor mill. These meetings are open to the public.

Angerline Day

I went ‘Oh Lord, I cannot do this.’ I promptly emailed my professor and told them I was just going to leave it. I was contacted by my psychology professor, and I just decided to get up, get a little strength in my backbone and just go for it,” she said. “There is no such thing as quitting.”

Day said earning the bachelor’s degree has given her a sense of pride and fulfillment.

“I have gained self-fulfillment because this is something that I’ve always wanted,” she said. “I feel more complete. I was not whole because I always wanted a thing that was not obtainable to me. It feels wonderful to finally be able to do something for me that I love.”

But, why a degree in psychology? Day is quick to answer.

“I’m interested in people – what they think, why they think, how they behave, why they behave the way they do,” she said. “The different personalities were always very amazing to me, and I just wanted to more about the intricate workings of people.”

Day’s son Thomas knew this was a “bucket-list item” for his mother, and he already sees the impact this accomplishment has made on her.

“I’m just looking at my mom and seeing the change in her over the past three to four years from when she started,” he said. “Looking at her now, she is just so sharp. It is just so amazing. I always knew she had it in her. We were the pushers. My brother and I helped get her back into school. When it gets hard, we motivate each other, and iron sharpens iron. It has been great to witness.”

Looking at his mother, Thomas expressed his pride. “You got it; you achieved this lifelong goal and that’s remarkable,” he told her following Monday night’s ceremony.

Day just shrugs at the suggestion that she is an inspiration, but she does have a message for others who may be chasing a lifelong dream like a college degree.

“Never give up on it. I don’t care what’s going on in your world – if you can’t do it now, do it later. Do it now because it will be well worth it. It is very, very fulfilling,” she said. “I feel better about myself. I’m fulfilled. I’ve accomplished more, and it is really a great feeling. I have learned more and the one thing about knowledge, it does build upon itself. That can be very, very excitement, especially for those who are my age who thought they had already lived their best lives. There is so much more ahead.”

Dr. Lance Dyess celebrates 40 years in May as Elba physician

Dr. Lance Dyess of Elba Family Medical Clinic understands the importance of health care to the community, and he has been providing continuous care to the Elba community for 40 years.

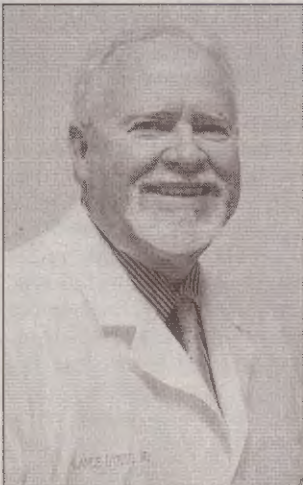

Dyess celebrated his 40th anniversary in May. Even though he practiced in Dothan for a time, he has maintained an office in Elba the entire 40 years for his community.

When he was only 6 years old, Dr. Dyess had his first experience with Elba. His grandfather, a retired farmer, brought him to Elba from Opp to buy Kelley's sausage.

He said his grandfather was a very large guy, nicknamed "Big 'un.'" Dr. Dyess described how his grandfather's truck would lean to one side with the difference in weight between the 6-year-old boy and his 400-pound, well-over-6-foot-tall grandfather.

As that young boy, Dr. Dyess had no idea he would spend most of his life in Elba. He also had no idea he would be a physician.

"The Good Lord put me in this," he said.

Lance K Dyess, MD

Dyess graduated from college at age 20 in chemical engineering and physics and was planning to work in the engineering field when he got a call from a former college professor telling him he needed to go to medical school. The rest is history.

He graduated from UAB Medical School and chose Elba for his career and his home.

"My goal is to go 50 years before I slow down," Dr. Dyess said.

He hasn't retired because he enjoys it and "my wife lets me do it (work)," he said.

He said his dad is 90 years old and still going strong. "It's hard to retire if your dad is still working," he laughed.

Dr. Dyess gets joy in seeing people, and when he finds out they have a problem, helping them "fix it" and have a better quality of life. And he enjoys Elba because it's home.

Dr. Dyess has four children and 12 grandchildren, and they all live within proximity of Elba.

The Elba Family Medical Clinic has been at its current location across from the airport for about 12 years. Dr. Dyess and his team specialize in primary care for teenagers and adults.

Dr. Dyess said the main reason primary care is so important is to detect problems and help manage patients' care in the most optimum way.

A primary care provider can refer a patient to a specialist when needed.

At Elba Family Medical Clinic, a patient will see the doctor at every visit.

The clinic is located at 252 Larkin Road. The team includes Katie Dyess, Jeana Carter, Wendy Johnson and Vennessa Deluca.

Organizing a Veteran's Funeral: The Basics

When it comes to planning a military funeral, whether for yourself or a loved one who has passed away, it is essential to be aware of the benefits and grief support available to veterans and their families. The U.S. government offers a range of programs and services designed to honor and assist service members and their survivors, including financial aid for funeral expenses, free bereavement counseling, and military funeral honors.

First, to access military benefits, families must present the service member's military discharge papers, a copy of the veteran's death certificate, and any receipts for transporting the body. Make sure you know where that information is and have it on hand when you start planning the funeral. Careful planning and preparation will help ease the burden during this difficult time.

Most veterans qualify for a free burial in a VA national cemetery, which includes grave opening and closing, a burial liner, a headstone or grave marker, and perpetual care. However, reservations for a VA national cemetery plot cannot be made in advance.

The VA can provide a headstone or grave marker for veterans buried in private cemeteries at no cost. Alternatively, a free bronze medallion can be requested to affix to a privately purchased headstone or marker.

For the memorial service, veterans who were not dishonorably discharged are entitled to complimentary military funeral honors. This ceremony includes draping the American flag over the casket or urn, playing Taps, and presenting the folded flag to the next of kin. Funeral directors can assist with arranging this ceremony upon request.

The VA may offer an allowance to help cover burial, plot, and funeral costs for eligible veterans. The amount received depends on factors such as whether the death was service-related and if the deceased received VA hospitalization. There are also various other programs that help cover expenses not included in military benefits.

If you ever find you are in need of a grief support group, the VA provides free bereavement counseling to families who have lost a loved one during active military service. Additional grief support resources can be found through nonprofit organizations.

By understanding and taking advantage of the benefits and support available to veterans and their families, you can ensure a military funeral is a fitting tribute to the life and service of the deceased. Our experienced funeral home staff is trained on Veterans Funeral Benefits and will help you every step of the way.

The Pressbox
By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Last Wednesday was the last day driving a bus for the 2023-2024 school year, and even though graduation had already been held for students in kindergarten, the sixth grade and twelfth grade, I had ten students get on the bus for the final trip of the year. If I was there ages I would have slept in and started the summer vacation a day early. However, some students find structure at school and simply like to get out of the house. Oh well, bus 13-02 is now parked for the next ten weeks.

For what it is worth....

 The coaching carousel stopped by Zion Chapel High School last week and when it cranked back up the Rebels' Joshua O'Neal and Adam Foster were both taking a ride to other schools. O'Neal accepted the head basketball job at Straughn after a very successful stay at Zion Chapel and will get closer to home and inherit a program known for producing teams with the Tigers. It looks like a great move for Coach O'Neal and a positive hire for the folks in Straughn! Foster had been the head baseball coach at Zion Chapel for the past four years and decided to make the jump into the 6A ranks by taking the head job at Rehobeth. He turned the Rebels into winners on the field throughout his stay, and will also inherit a program that expects to win and is always a team to watch.

 Perhaps the biggest surprise last week concerning coaching changes was at Opp, where head football coach Matt Brunson resigned to head back to Florida after only one season with the Bobcats. The Bobcats struggled to a 4-7 record last season under the highly-successful Florida coach, but had growing pains as Brunson installed a new offense and defense, and was expected to be contenders this coming season despite a move to Class 4A. Brunson came to Opp with high expectations and much fanfare, but slipped back out of town quietly and with just three months left before the start of a new season, Opp officials will have to make the 'right hire' to keep the program headed in the right direction.

 Just when you thought the NIL rules in college sports couldn't get any crazier, the NCAA agreed last week to a settle a lawsuit for $2.7 million to pay former athletes that were 'damaged' because of the fact the NIL was not in effect when they played, as well as pay approximately $20 million per year in 'revenue sharing' to players. The actual settlement could take six months to get figured out, but one thing is certain and that is that there is no longer anything such as an amateur athlete at the college level.

 In closing.... (On a personal note) There is an old saying to 'keep your friends close and your enemies closer,' and that saying hit true again this week as small town jealousies grew into lies and accusations that probably should be challenged in court as a defamation of one's character. While I imagine the courts will never get involved, it only makes it more clear than ever that as times change so can the place one wanted to call home. If you don't know what I am writing about it isn't about you, but if you do, maybe it is time to take another look in the mirror.

Elba Tiger football coaches instruct players during a recent spring practice. The Tigers wrapped up spring drills last week and will soon begin summer workouts in preparation for the 2024 season.

Tigers complete 'positive' spring drills

The Elba Tigers wrapped up spring football drills last week and Coach Marc Sieving stated after the ten-day practice schedule was completed that the players and coaches were all excited and ready to get back to work in preparation for next season.

"We had a very good spring practice," said Sieving. "Everyone that had been in fall workouts came out and they were all dedicated and worked hard to improve. We have a good nucleus back from last season, and while we did move some folks around, by the end of the workouts we felt good about where we were and everyone had a position. When he come back after a short break we will continue to work on strength and conditioning, as well as spending a lot of time outside to stay adjusted to the heat. We got a lot done, but have a lot to do before football seasons kicks off next season."

"In years past we would try to find a spring game to compete in or play an intra-squad game," added Sieving, "but this year we felt it was more important to get everyone in the right place and work on fundamentals. Teaching is a big part of success at the high school level and we did a lot of teaching this spring."

With returnees including record-setting running back Alvin Henderson, all-state linebackers Cayden Adkins and Jacob Watkins, massive all-state lineman Emmanuel Cooks and two-year starter at center Logan Horton back on the roster, it is easy to see why the level of excitement is so high on the Elba campus. "We certainly have some quality players coming back that want to close their high school careers with a state title," stated Sieving, "but potential is just a word that fans use to describe teams and not a word that wins ballgames. The senior leadership will definitely help us at practice and at games, and there is no denying we have some really good football players coming back. However, it takes more than a handful of players to make a team successful, and finding the pieces to complete the puzzle will be the key to our success. We have watched films of last season's games and know where we must improve, and as coaches and players will do all we can to be a complete team."

Elba's will remain in Class 1A, Region 2 in the upcoming season, but will face a schedule that includes three non-region games against new rivals, as well as seven region opponents. The Tigers will kick off the season on Aug. 23 on the road against 2A Luverne, then will return home the next three weeks for a non-region clash with former private school power Glenwood School (Aug. 30), and region contests against McKenzie (Sept. 6) and Kinston (Sept. 13). A trip to face region rival Brantley will come in week five (Sept. 20), followed by a non-region home game against 2A Goshen (Sept. 27). October will find the Tigers battling with four straight region foes with a road game in Red Level (Oct. 4), a road game in Pleasant Home (Oct. 11), and home games against Georgiana (Oct. 18) and Florala (Oct. 25). "This may be the toughest schedule we have faced in a couple of years," added Sieving, "and we know there will be no easy wins. Our non-region schedule includes three very good teams that will all be looking forward to taking the field against us, while all seven region opponents were much improved last season and will no doubt be even better this year. Any team would have to work hard to be successful against the teams we will face, and I promise you will work hard and be ready to go when we kick it off in August."

Zion Chapel Rebels lose two head coaches to offers from bigger schools in Wiregrass

With success comes change, and those changes certainly have hit home at Zion Chapel High School during the off-season as head basketball coach Josh O'Neal and head baseball coach Adam Foster have both left the Rebels to accept positions at area schools.

O'Neal, one of the winningest basketball coaches ever at Zion Chapel, resigned to accept the head job at 4A Straughn, while Foster will make the move to 6A Rehobeth.

O'Neal led Zion Chapel to back-to-back sub-region appearances in the past two seasons and last season led the Rebels to a 20-win season. The popular and highly-successful coach had been courted by other schools in the past, but chose to remain at Zion Chapel. However, the chance to coach at the 4A level and return closer to his home in Covington County was apparently too much to pass up. Foster, who spent the past four seasons at Zion Chapel, led the Rebels to a 9-15 record last season, but turned around the program and quickly built it into one of the top 2A programs in the area. He was also a former assistant coach at Luverne and Enterprise, and will take over a team at Rehobeth that will make the move to Class 6A after countless successful seasons competing in Class 5A.

Six Deadly Sins

The "seven deadly sins" named during the Middle Ages were pride, avarice, gluttony, lust, sloth, envy, and anger. God's list in His condemnation of Judah was not quite the same, though surely the Israelites were guilty of all these sins as well. Isaiah spoke of only six "woes" in our text, but anyone can see that these were "deadly" to the perpetrators: covetousness, carousing, scoffing, perversion of the truth, arrogance, and injustice (sparked by drunkenness). The latter verses of Isaiah 5 tell of the punishment that would come to these unrepentant sinners. Their destruction and defeat are described in terms of fire, decay, beatings, earthquakes, noise, and darkness. God's judgment will be no Sunday school picnic! Regardless of the number or the seriousness of your sins, they are punishable by the same "wages" - death (Romans 6:23). Jesus has paid that penalty for you, but you must appropriate His gift of redemption by trusting and obedient faith (John 1:12; Acts 2:38). "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" (Hebrews 2:3). Woe to us! - R.W.B.

PREPARING STUDENTS TO BE CAREER READY! Stan Kennedy, a representative of LMC Manufacturing of Donalsonville, Ga., recently visited the Elba High School welding department to tour the facility and meet students. He also delivered some safety equipment from the company for the students to use. Kennedy said LMC extends an invitation to Elba High welding students to set up a tour of its facility in the near future. While visiting the company, the students will be able to take a welding test, and those who do well will be offered a job on-site. Those pictured above include (front, l to r) Earl Tolentino, Seth Wilcox - EHS welding instructor, Stan Kennedy of LMC Manufacturing, Dr. Warren Weeks - EHS principal, and Kaden Harrison; (back, l to r) Kyle Medlock, Easton McKelvy, Cole Shehee, Victor Wall, Matthew McCart, and Mateo Jimenez.

Elba High School Alumni Association presents two scholarships to graduating seniors from Elba

The Elba High School Alumni Association presented its annual scholarships to graduating Elba seniors during the Senior Awards Day Ceremony held Wednesday, May 15, at the high school. The alumni association awarded $3,000 in scholarship monies ($1,500 to a female and $1,500 to a male) to graduating seniors from the Class of 2024. This brings the association's total given in scholarship monies to Elba High seniors since 2016 to $27,500. This year's awards went to Izaiah Johnson and Zalie McKelvy. "As president of the Elba High School Alumni

Izaiah Johnson

Zalie McKelvy

Association, I am super proud of all the things we are able to do to help Elba City Schools, and it is an honor each year to present these scholarships to students looking to further their education beyond high school," Linda Hodge, president of the Elba High School Alumni Association said. "We are proud of our students at Elba, and we welcome this year's graduating seniors to alumni status!"

CEC awards scholarships to local high school seniors

Covington Electric Co-op (CEC) offers scholarships each year to deserving high school seniors to honor its commitment to education and community involvement. These scholarships are provided through the Electric Cooperative Foundation in Montgomery, Ala., which evaluates all applications and awards scholarships to students attending technical colleges and universities. Applicants must be dependents of CEC members to apply. Details about the scholarships are publicized through Alabama Living, the CEC website, social media, and brochures. CEC offers two $1,000 scholarships (one for a senior heading to college and one for a senior heading to technical college) at each high school served by the co-op. In addition to these scholarships, there are two $1,000 At-Large scholarships that are awarded to eligible high school seniors attending schools not served by CEC with the same guidelines. Congratulations to the 2024 CEC Scholarship Recipients: Caroline Reeves, Andalusia High School; Briley Douglas and Hailey Ward, Pleasant Home School; Ella Rose Cooper and Baylee Smith, Kinston School; Haley Chance and Kennedy Lord, Red Level School; Colin Arnold, Elba High School; Emma Pugh and Williams Baxley, Straughn High School; and Kendal Nichols and Tyson Grant, Brantley School. CEC is an electric distribution cooperative providing electric service in parts of six counties including Covington, Coffee, Dale, Crenshaw, Geneva, and Escambia.

months is equivalent to an aide's pay. "Are you telling the school system you would rather not have an aide a whole school year to do this," she asked. "I just want us to all be on the same page here. Grantham asked her fellow board members, "if the school system is paying two superintendents for a few months, and there is an elementary teacher that wants an aide but the funds are not there, are we saying this is a bigger priority to us than the teacher having an aide in the classroom? We have such finite local resources to be able to do things." "Those discussions need to take place. Like I said if we are going to move on this, we need to move," Moseley said. "Either way you look at it, there is going to be some loss, somewhere of local funding during this situation." Without resolution to the discussion during last week's meeting due to graduation that evening, the board chose to tentatively set June 3rd as the date for the next discussion. "Any questions you all have I will be glad to answer," Moseley added. "Let's just get this moving forward."

"We look forward to welcoming customers to our new store and hope they will enjoy shopping at our new location." Furthermore, DG strives to be a good neighbor and is committed to the communities it proudly calls home, evidenced by unwavering support of literacy and education initiatives through the Dollar General Literacy Foundation. The addition of the Enterprise store opens the opportunity for schools, nonprofit organizations and libraries within a 15-mile radius of the store to apply for Dollar General Literacy Foundation grants. Since its inception in 1993, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation has awarded more than $250 million in grants to nonprofit organizations, helping more than 21.5 million individuals take their first steps toward literacy or continued education.
